

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A lead frame (201) for a packaged electronic device having split flag structures (205, 207) coupled by support structures (219). The support structures include bend portions (233) for providing stress relief between the flag structures during the manufacture and/or during 5 the operation of a packaged electronic device (301). In one embodiment, the packaged electronic device includes an inertial sensor (515).